"The Wonder Car"

All that can be asked for in an Automobile

In the 1915 Maxwell you will find America's Greatest Car. Greatest from every point of view, but principally because it fills the requirements of the greatest number of people and has every requisite of modern automobile construction.

Here is the car that speaks emphatically of beauty, economy, durability and a low cost from the time you buy it on through every day of its operation.

Its beautiful finish, pure stream lines, comfortable roomy seats, and fine upholstering make it a car that you are proud to drive.

Its extreme simplicity of construction and operation make it the desirable family car. It is so simple and easy to drive and control, so nearly trouble-proof that the lady of the house and the children, as well, can drive it with as much ease as the experienced driver handles the big car.

The comfort and easy riding qualities of the Maxwell are surpassed by no car of three times its cost and its ability as a hill climber, the power, speed and endurance of the Maxwell has been demonstrated time and again in the racing field, hill climbing and other contests, as well as daily to thousands who drive Maxwells.

The materials that enter into the construction of the Maxwell are of the finest quality. Every piece of steel is tested in the big private laboratories of the Maxwell factories and so is every bit of material that enters into its construction. America's foremost engineers, experts in production, competent mechanics and men of the highest efficiency are employed to make the Maxwell right in every respect. This great organization of America's greatest skill has been employed to produce a car of superior quality and in such great quantities as to enable them to build it—America's Greatest Car—at a price that is most remarkably low.

Not only is the Maxwell a car of low first cost, but one that assures the purchaser of a low upkeep. Maximum lasting qualities of the parts and the wonderful low cost of operation, gas, oil, tires, etc., make the Maxwell a car that most every American family may own and run.

We do not make this appeal to the man of moderate means only, but to all. In the Maxwell you have every comfort, can go where many larger cars cannot travel, and it is always ready; it is simple to operate and its equipment leaves absolutely nothing to buy. Even though you can afford a car of greater first cost, even though you do not mind the difference in operating expenses, why pay more?

Here is all the automobile any man needs, regardless of his wealth or social position
